LOVE WRECKS AUTO

Joy Riders Bumped When Machine Hits Tree.

WOMEN FRIGHTENED

Chauffeur, Blinded by Wiles of Cupid and Influence of the Moon, Steers Packard Car at Base of Sherman Statue, and Party Ends at Emergency Hospital.

Love, which is blind, according to all precepts, may have caused a young man under the influence of the moon and the presence of a young woman to guide a Packard touring car at the base of the Sherman statue last night with the "sangfroid" of a Swiss guide beginning the ascent of a dangerous peak.

Curbing beside the roadway south of the Treasury, a tree, and a stone wall were between the automobile and the statue, which tells why the machine did not land on top of Gen, Sherman's image. Young Women Scared,

The young woman, whose influence was similar to that of the moon, and another young woman who probably has a like influence were given the fright of their Inspector Dodge's Charges Denied a lives, the first damsel receiving a cut on the cheek as an undesirable souvenir of

The machine was guided toward Pennsylvania avenue, its driver taking a route along the roadway south of the Treasury. The moon had been high in the heavens for hours, and the girl beside the youthful driver was enhancing in its light.

Suddenly the machine swerved. There girls added hysterical screams to the din, two youths shouted in frightened voices, and the automobile stopped with a bump, It was disabled and remained quiet, One young woman was crying, while the other was still with fright. The one who was still held her hand to her face.

She was accompanied to Emergency Hospital. "Nothing but a little cut from glass," said the physician. The young lady smiled. Her name, she said, was Katie Jones. To a reporter she had said "Miss Emerson." To Policeman Nolan she replied: Miss Vivian Harris, seventeen years old, of 937 I street northwest. Got Names Mixed,

The other girl declared her name to be Ruth Nelson. "I live at the same house with Katie, I mean Miss Emerson; no I mean I live with Vivian Harris," She blushed with confusion.

Policeman Nolan questioned the young men. One gave his name as Leo Grier, twenty-one years old, of 1019 H street northwest. The other youth said his name was Harry Fulton, nineteen years old, of 1021 Fourteenth street northwest. The machine was No. 1317. It is recorded as the property of a well-known merchant in F street northwest.

It must have been midnight before the party reached their destination. The machine was in the roadway after that hour.

REICHSTAG DEBATES POTASH.

Object of Bill Just Introduced Is to Thwart Foreign Trusts.

Berlin, Feb. 14.-The government's potash bill, which provides for the regulation of the German potash industry for twenty years, was introduced in the Reichstag to-day by Herr Sydow, the minister of commerce, who, in his speech, explained that the main object of the bill was to prevent the formation of a trust in which foreign countries would play a controlling part.

Potash, he said, formed an element of Germany's economic strength, just like america's possession of petroleum and cotton and Sweden's ores. The government's foremost aim, therefore, he said, was to prevent foreigners from obtaining potash cheaper from the home agriculthrist. Germany's potash industry, the minister said, represented an investment sum of $200,000,000 and employed 30,000

SENATOR ROOT IS NOW SIXTY-FIVE YEARS OLD

Senator Elihu Root, of New York, sixtyfive years ago to-day first opened his eyes upon the world, being born in the home of his maternal grandfather, on the campais of old Hamilton College. His father, Oren Root, was a professor at Hamilton, as was also his grandfather.

When Secretary Hay died, President Roosevelt asked Root to become Secretary of State. A contemporary writer says that the understanding was reached in these words: "Elihu. I want you to take John Hay's place," "Mr. President, I am at your service."

The same writer says that when Thomas F. Ryan was informed that Root was going to accept the State portfolio, he exclaimed: "What; Root going to leave us? What can he be thinking about? I would give Chicago, Feb. 14.-Pork on the hoof reached the highest price since 1882 today, when hogs sold for $9.20 a hundred pounds, an advance of 40 cents above the prices of a week ago.
